

WASHINGTON BEATBy the Herald Tribune
Washington Staff*

CPYRGHT

The White House is thinking of putting a government expert in as Secretary of the Army, a man skilled in the art of cutting red tape. His name: Robert Amory, until recently a high official in the CIA, now with the Budget Bureau. Secretary of Defense McNamara wants to get more than 16 combat divisions out of his overall Army manpower pool of about one million. (Amory was...